Reading:

We are about to finish week 3 of Reading Street. We took our first Reading Street test on Fri. Sept. 20th. Our class average was a 64%. Pretty good for our first try! We are aiming for a 70% this week! Studying the vocabulary words at home will help raise their score.

Class Webpage

Please remember to check the class webpage regularly! Spelling and Vocabulary words for the week can always be found there. I have also been blogging about books we are reading. I will often pose questions for the students to respond to on my blogs. Pictures and student work will be coming soon, so keep checking! :)

Travel Folders

Please check your child's travel folder daily. Inside you will find our behavior chart (sign daily). On the back of the behavior chart, you will see what we are working on and important reminders. Homework will be placed in there every Monday. Spelling pre-tests will also be there on Mondays, along with the previous weeks graded spelling test and our Family Times which tells you about our focus in Reading Street. I check folders daily, so it is a great place for important papers and notes for me. My goal is to always keep you informed. Thank you for being diligent with checking the folder.

Math:

We are about to finish a unit on place value. Student should be able to represent, spell, compare and order 4-digit numbers. We will be starting a unit on addition next. Students are also working on being fluent in their ways to make 10 such as 4 and 6. Ask them to name them all!

Writing:

Our first adventure in becoming an author has been to write a fable that has a moral. Students are off to a great start. Be on the look out for examples on our webpage in a couple weeks.
